The ~~lazy hare run~~ Scavenger hunt

It was a blistering hot night.

14 spirited and effervescent hashers were assembled.

There were sadly no virgins or visitors.

Introductions were made for those who forgot their fellow hashers names.

The hare quickly explained the run/ walk with only checks and no on-ons. (WHAT?? NO ON-ONS)

At each check was a clue. It was either a picture or a cryptic note of where to run/walk to.

The hare apparently had driven from check to check hiding "clues".

She called it a "scavenger hunt".

5 light hearted walkers and 8 rollicking runners set off on their merry way skipping and jumping, but soon there were only 7 runners (may have had something to do with the fact there was no running hare. WHAT?? NO RUNNING HARE then again there was no walking hare either

WHAT?? NO WALKING HARE). Where was that cullion we like to call Sir Cums A lot? Rumor had it after a few cubits, he realized he's no runner and somehow became lost for the entire "scavenger hunt" including the most awesome hash hold (I'll come to that later).

The hellcat of a (driving) hare had the good sense to send the FRBs (Pucker and Boner) on a false trail/ roundabout since they were not being good team players.

After a lot of sweating and running around in search of beer, miraculously everyone (except Sir Cums) found each other. There was much rejoicing and the beer flowed freely (that's the awesome part).

Much joy was had by all; all the way back to the circle up.

Punishments and rewards were given at the circle (it depends on your perspective).

Sir Cums finally made it back in time to say he would be giving out blow jobs for the river float July 26. Come to his house that week before.

More frivolity was had at the on-on.
