Hare(s): Cum See My Box & Cum Liq Snatch

Location: Parkland mall east parking lot

Prelube: JD's

On On: Mr. Mikes

Scribe: Crash

It was pouring rain as I headed to the pre-lube. Surely nobody in their right mind would run on a night like this. Evidently hashers are not in their right mind.

Well maybe we would just have a pre-lube and then go directly to the on-on. But NO. Our illustrious hare, Cum See my Box had something to show us. It was a trail you pervert. So off we went to circle up.

Cum See and Cum Liquor Snatch had apparently spent several minutes setting an elaborate trail. Unfortunately the rain washed away all their markings. Just like the RA, Cum Honour ordered, the rain stopped abruptly as he called circle up. What awesome power the RA holds.

So 8 runners and 4 walkers left the safety of circle up to walk down a treacherous hill and cross a busy highway. Even though there were almost no markings Cum Liquor Snatch expertly shepherded the runners over hill and dale (who's dale). Cum See let Cum Honour check out all the bushes on behalf of the walking group.

Halfway through the run, at a particularly steep and slippery down hill slope, Slippery When Wet had a terrible fall. We should have seen it coming since true to her name it was wet. Luckily Slippery was all right as her skull absorbed the impact.

After various concussion tests were done, she was back on her feet. It pays to practice falling.

Eventually there was a hash hold. Cum Liquor Snatch did her best to extend the run so the runners wouldn't get there, but only Slippery followed her. Perhaps she was concussed after all. I quickly caught up to the 2 misguided hashers to make sure they were safe. Long after the others had finished their beer and treats at the hash hold we did indeed safely arrive.

Everyone was punished for their transgressions. Some multiple times.

The rain stayed away for the entire run, so I did not have to open my mysterious ball that I carried around my waist. It was the cause much curiosity. I was getting tired of the other hashers staring at and playing with my ball, so I finally opened it. Want to know what was inside? You should've come to the run then.

On-on,

Crash
