Run: #1288 October 2nd

Hare: Pussy Foot

Circle-Up: old Sears parking lot

On-On: Murph's

Scribe: Just Gabby

The beautiful night started out next to some car enthusiasts that didn't know they were in our way, but put on a flashy show before and after the gorgeous sunset.

The running side of the run was crafty and tampered with! To start it off they had a false trail down a steep hill which made for an excellent warmup. The rest of the hills and slopes were nothing after that! The rope that had been set up with trail for safety on 2 slopes mysteriously vanished of its own accord (possibly to show up later, but unlikely). More backtracks would have been required but Crash Test Dummy took lucky turn after lucky turn, and with the lack of hat he was a beacon to the runners lighting the proper way.

The walkers may have gotten side tracked but had a hell of a time traversing the wilds and thistles, little to no backtrack as well. Skipped by a homeless camp and with barely a breather met up with the runners for a grand finale of a forested windy hill!

Through the used condoms in the bushes, and thistles at ankles the worst part was watching Slipery When Wet have a berry flavored shoe drink.

Cheers,
Gabby
