Run: #1290 October 16th

Hare: Lady Pucker Sucker

Location: 4405 52 Ave

On On: OJ's

Scribe: DKD

On a lovely fall evening we all gathered in front of a Dental building reminding us all to use up those benefits before the end of the year – such a thoughtful reminder by the hare. DKD pulled in at the last moment even after Cum See so it was a night of miracles. A good turn out with Pussyfoot, Cantalingus, Slipper, Crash, TNT, Dixie, Wet Spot, Cum honor, I like it hard, Pucker, Cum See and DKD.

The hare demonstrated a random trail with white powder out of a shampoo bottle. Now we know her beauty secrets. The markings were random and involved a bit of interpretation, but the many runners took off with optimism and the walkers made sure to have the keys to the Hash Hold because we were not as confident in their abilities and wanted to be able to relax and enjoy multiple beverages while they tried to decipher the trail.

It wasn't long before we saw the runners come back and try another path to continue on their journey confirming the walkers assessment of their abilities. It wasn't long along the trail that there was a misstep and NO it wasn't Crash. Wet spot had a weak ankle but she soldiered on with the commitment to get to the excellent hash hold. The rest of the runners continued on their way not knowing the great sacrifice that was being made for the cause.

The run consisted of many twists, turns, dual headed trails, and from what I understand some hashers Dixie Cup and TNT might need to have their eyes checked due to the fact they were going so fast they sped right over a false trail marking and had to be redirected by Cantalingus.

The walkers had a lovely meander through the creek trails with the fallen leaves, moonlight, and wildlife (homeless, deer, live hares) not all were seen but we highly suspected their presence. We as predicted arrived prior to the the runners to the Hash Hold and since we were right in front of some windows and patios moved the HH slightly for just a little more privacy.

We sat on some parked scooters to wait in comfort but they were possessed and kept talking to us which made Cum see jump enough to tip over and hit I like it hard – and all he was doing was sitting there “innocently”. It wasn't long before we saw the trail of headlights coming down the hill and our ears were filled with the night calls of “on on”. They arrived and quickly quenched their well earned thirst with golden elixir and treats for all.

Circle up proved to be well balanced with everyone being called in for multiple punishment. There was a birthday shot for TNT. It was determined that Pussyfoot just fakes singing even with the songbook provided. We will have to keep our eye on that! We then adjourned hash and relocated to OJ's for On On.
